Football Fans Ask For Doubleheader Saturday

Many Devotees of Gridiron Game Favor Plan to Play Two Big Games This Week on One Field—Both Games Scheduled for This Saturday are Important Contests—Local Citizens Believe Double Attraction Would Be Banner Event of Athletic Year—Kamehameha Opposes McKinley—Punahou and College of Hawaii Clash

Why not allow the football fans of the city to see both gridiron contests on Saturday? That is the question that has been asked by hundreds of the fans in the city since the schedule was announced for the local interscholastic series. Many of the lovers of football in Honolulu have suggested that some move be made that would allow them to witness both games during the season.

Last evening a man who has not missed a football game this year said: "I really do not know what to do on Saturday afternoon. I would like to see the Kamehameha-Hawaii game, and I surely would like to see that contest at Kamehameha field when McKinley and Kamehameha clash. Both will be real exhibitions, and I am only one of many who would like to watch the contests. The last game between the McKinley and Kamehameha was one of the best of the year, and there is bound to be a grand struggle when the aggregations meet. Then you know that game between College of Hawaii and Punahou was one of the most exciting struggles we have watched for a long time. Both will be big games and with the present schedule we have to flip a coin or stay away. Why not make a double-header? If it could be arranged, I believe it would be the big event of the year in local athletics."

Every one that has talked on the football situation locally has mentioned that fact. When asked as to what opinion on the final results the subject brought up regarding the two big games on Saturday. The usual answer is, "I would like to see both games. As to which game is the most important, I cannot say. They will both be great contests." That is the sentiment of a number of fans. They do not know how it all could be arranged, but they want to see two games on one field.

The suggestion has been made that the athletic council agree on playing on one field next Saturday and on another the following Saturday. This idea would naturally work out so the advantage would not be gained by any one school. It was stated further that two games could be played in the afternoon in plenty of time before dark. A double-header would naturally attract a number of people who would perhaps not attend either one of the games. The citizens of Honolulu who love to watch good football and who are not identified with any institution (of which there are many) would welcome the idea. There are only a few remaining games left, and a double-header is short a banner crowd would be the result of the double-header.

Would it be Satisfactory?

The attendance at a double-header would naturally be larger than at the games on different fields, and there are many points in favor of the move. In all interviews on the subject to date there has been no mention of any reason for not playing a two-game attraction. The Star-Bulletin will be pleased to receive any information on the subject from both sides. It is hoped that those interested in the promotion of a double attraction will send their views on the subject to the Star-Bulletin. If there is anyone who does not favor the idea it would be interesting to receive the reasons for same.

Early in the year, when the Mills team was battling with the heavier eleven the fans not identified with any school attended the other game. An instance of the action taken by the schools this year. When Punahou played Mills, McKinley and Hawaii were battling on Moiliili field. Before the second period was over, hundreds of the Punahou followers left Alexander field and watched the game between Paden's charges and McKinley. This proved that students of one school want to see a good football game whether their team is playing or not. In a double-header there would surely be as much rooting as ever.

Some of the men identified with the different schools have given their opinion on the matter. Some of the officials could not be reached this morning for the statements of those who have been identified with football are given:

CAPTAIN BOOTH, Kamehameha coach—I believe that a double-header would attract a much larger crowd than the attendance at the two games combined. I believe that it would be an excellent move if it could be arranged satisfactorily to all concerned.

COACH MIDKIFF of Punahou—We would be pleased to arrange any plan that would be satisfactory to all. If the McKinley and Kamehameha teams are willing to cooperate, I believe that a double-header can be arranged.

W. T. ALEXANDER, College of Hawaii—The College of Hawaii is always ready to cooperate with any teams in the promotion of clean athletics and better games for the fans. If the other teams will agree to the staging of a double-header I am sure the college will join in the movement.

HENRY CHILLINGWORTH, McKinley alumnus—It would be a good idea. I am quite sure that the McKinley boys will welcome any move that will benefit the supporters of the games.

ARTHUR LARIMER, neutral—I attend all the games possible, but it is mighty hard to witness two games at a time on different fields. It is a good idea, and I am sure the lovers of football not identified with any institution will welcome the move.

PALAMA TAKES ANOTHER GAME ON HOME FLOOR

| Junior League | W. | L. |
|---------------|----|----|
| Palama        | 3  | 0  |
| Kaula         | 2  | 1  |
| Star-Bulletin | 1  | 1  |
| Kalihi        | 1  | 1  |
| Kakaako       | 0  | 1  |
| Beretania     | 0  | 2  |

Last night at Palama the best and most interesting game of the present Junior series was played between Palama and Kaula. The Palama team winning an uphill fight, the final score being 11 to 9.

In the pitching line Kaula and Johnson both did fine work, but Johnson received the best support from his catcher. Johnson struck out 16 men and Kaula struck out 20, but three of the 20 were safe at first when Rosario failed to hold the third strike. The last game that Rosario caught at Kakaako against the Star-Bulletin team he was severely injured and his playing last night was very off color. In the first of the ninth again last night he was knocked out with a wicked foul tip and it is to be hoped that in the future the Kaula captain will keep him in the infield, where he belongs, and not behind the plate.

Manabu took Rosario's place and, inasmuch as he is away the best catcher, it is hard to understand why they don't keep him on the job and cut out their experimenting.

It was a hard game for Kaula to lose, but they seem to persist in playing a lot of has-beens that can't hit a ball with a bat.

Ah Kai Fielding Star. The Palama boys are fortunate in having Harry Chan, who plays a good game behind the plate, and is especially good in steadying the pitcher. The best piece of fielding of the game was pulled off by Ah Kai in the last of the sixth, when he speared with one hand a line drive from the bat of Jim Bell that looked good for a pair of bases. Tsunji for Palama and Akau and Hsashi for Kaula led in hitting.

The rooters for both teams made plenty of noise and at the close of the game they were whooping it up harder than ever.

The score:
Palama.....0 1 0 3 2 0 1 3 11
Kaula.....3 0 3 0 0 0 0 3 9
Umpires—Frank Kalua and Ben Clark.

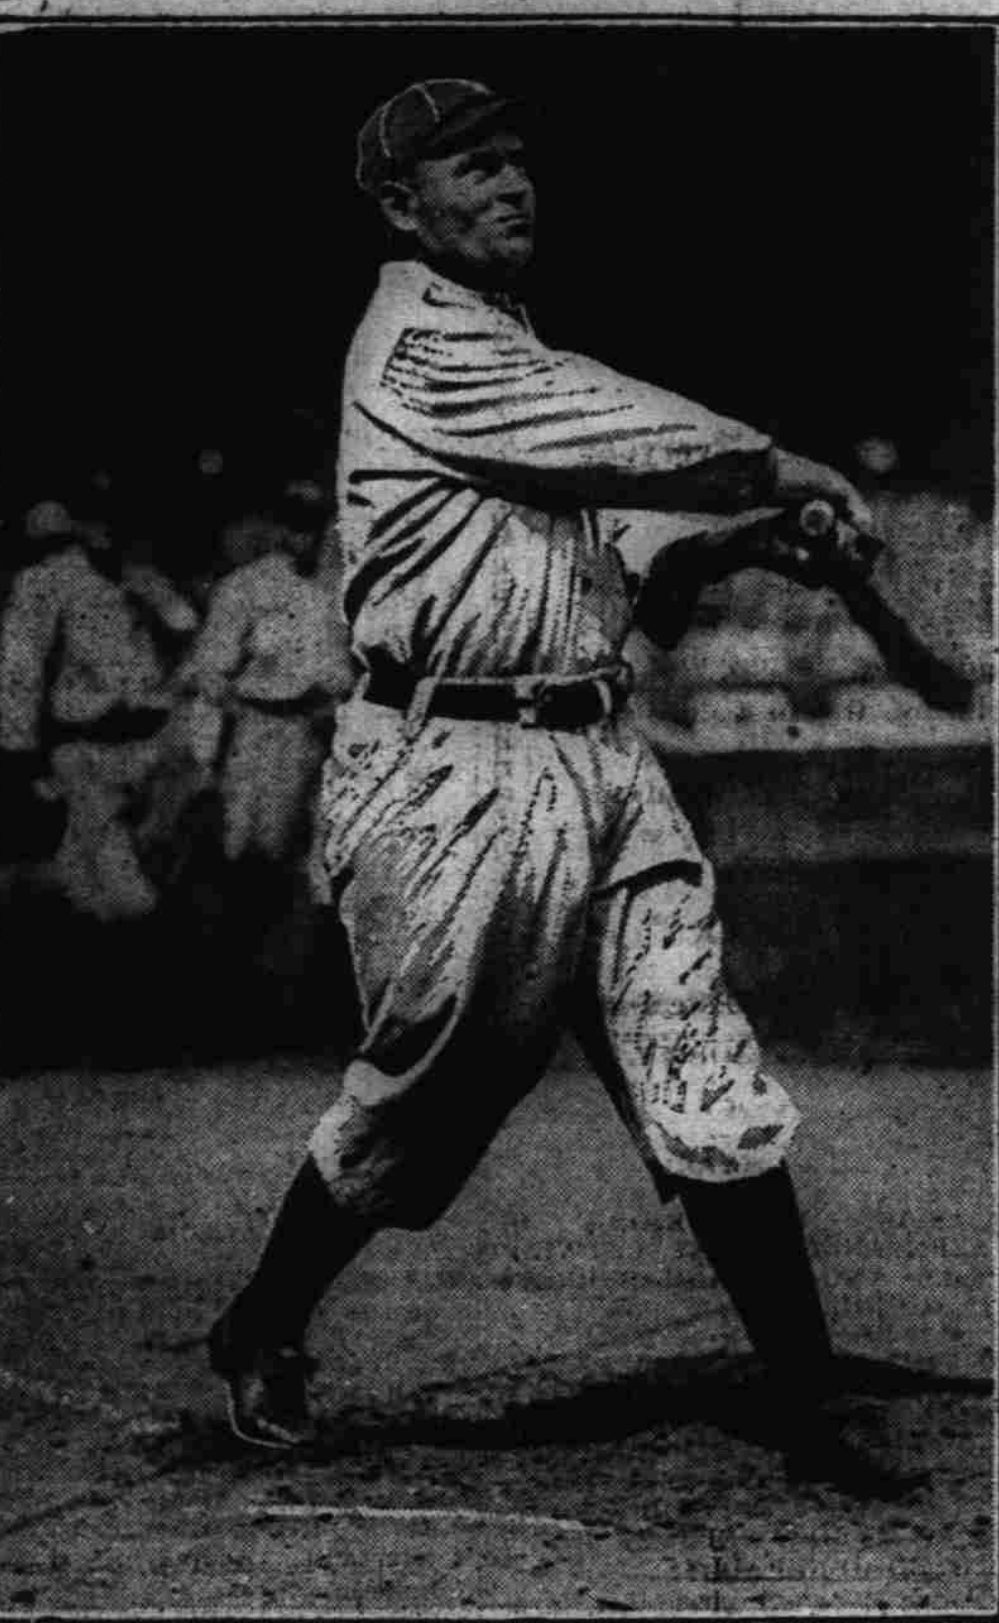

Tonight in the Junior League Kakaako and Beretania play at Kakaako, and tomorrow night Kalihi and Palama play at Kalihi.

In the Senior League Kaula and Palama meet tonight at Palama, while the Beretania and Star-Bulletin senior and junior teams play a double-header tomorrow night at Kakaako instead of at Palama. The Junior game will be first, the same to start at 6:30 o'clock, and the Senior game to follow.

CRAVATH, PHILLIES' DEMON SLUGGER, TOO OLD FOR MAJORS FIVE YEARS AGO

"Cactus" Cravath, the slugging Quaker who failed to shine in the world series, was one of the real hitters of the year. There have been many stars who failed to show their full strength in the big events and Cravath has been accused of being overrated. Ty Cobb, king of them all, did not star in the crucial tests, while other players who passed out of the game were heroes. Cravath will be found cracking them out again at Philadelphia when the umpire calls "Play ball" in the spring.

Eastern Conference Would Decide Winner

Wouldn't it be a great boon to football if the big colleges in the East formed a conference such as exists in the West and then, at the end of each season, the winner of the East played the winner of the West for the gridiron championship of the country?

Year after year the question of whether the eastern champion is superior to the western goes unsettled. The easterner contends that eastern footballers are the peer of any in the West; the West scoffs at such an idea and claims that any of the crack western eleven could smother the best in the East. And there you are—arguments pro and con, day after day, year after year—and the great question is a question still.

Would Settle Arguments. Even if the eastern colleges didn't want their champion to play the title holder of the West it would be a great thing for football if nine of the big colleges in the East formed a league, arranged a schedule among themselves and settled each year beyond the possibility of dispute the question of real supremacy in the East.

In years gone by, Yale, Harvard and Princeton were looked upon as the only colleges that were entitled to fight for the championship. It seemed to make no difference what another eleven did. If Yale beat Harvard and Princeton, even though it was tied or beaten by one of the so-called "smaller" eleven, Yale would claim the championship. Even though one of the other eleven won every game it played—and rolled up enormous scores.

Big Three Is Gone. But that day passed with the coming of a new football which has rolled in the form of a revival of the big "edge" in bulk, and has placed the lighter eleven on an almost equal footing. Football enthusiasts no longer accord to Yale, Harvard and Princeton the "divine right" to monopolize championships. In future their claims cannot be allowed unless they can show a record superior to any other college eleven in the East.

How simple it would be—and how satisfying to the lover of the gridiron game—if the big eleven in the East did form a league, battle largely among themselves, as they do in the West, and conclusively settle the championship each year.

Western Conference Decides. The western conference consists of nine colleges: Illinois, Chicago, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Ohio State, Purdue, Indiana and Northwestern. Most of the teams play each other

Kauai Bowlers Make Records In Match Game

While the bowlers in the league at the Y. M. C. A. are running up scores, the pin smashers on Kauai are making records. In the recent tournament at Lihue, C. Maser established a record for the islands this year by bowling 639 for three games. In the first game Maser toppled the pins over for a score of 227. His next game was five points under the double century mark, and in the final game he annexed 267 for a record. H. Wolters also bowled two 200 scores in the same match, making a 245 and a 204 mark.

The total score made by the five men was 2847, which is close to the island record. No team this year in Honolulu has approached that mark and the Knights of the Maple Slide of this city will have a hard time when the bowlers from Kauai clash with the locals. The following scores were made in the last Lihue match.

|              | 1st | 2nd | 3rd | Totals |
|--------------|-----|-----|-----|--------|
| C. Maser     | 227 | 195 | 167 | 639    |
| H. Wolters   | 245 | 204 | 164 | 613    |
| W. Kuhlmann  | 198 | 168 | 202 | 568    |
| F. Mahu      | 131 | 195 | 150 | 476    |
| G. P. Winter | 183 | 148 | 174 | 505    |

Good Game for Tonight.

There will be a battle of bowling giants this evening at the Y. M. C. A. when Capt. Norris Statton sends his timber wreckers against Captain Chamberlin's Colts. The Service team leads the league to date, being a fraction of a game ahead of the Honolulu and one full game ahead of the Colts.

The results of the games this evening will be watched with interest as two defeats for the Service team will send the Honolulu and the Colts tied for first place. The lineup of the Colts this evening will be: Henry Yap, W. A. Reseman, W. A. Ham, Wm. L. Creed and J. C. Chamberlin; for the Service—George C. Reed, S. G. McCutcheon, Ed. McTavish, Capt. Norris Statton, Andrew Mosely, Walter Treptow and C. E. Goebig.

The celebrated comedian and eccentric dancer, Dick Marquand, who spent his summer vacation pitching baseball for teams in the city of New York, will now return to his vaudeville engagements. Mr. Marquand is said to have had a very successful season financially as a baseball pitcher, though artistically it was not all expected.

Umpire who are popular with fans and players are as scarce as 200-acre farms in the state of Delaware.

The world series seems to have settled an argument as to which is the greater pitcher, Grover Alexander or Walter Johnson. There is a general expression by Red Sox players that while Alex is a great pitcher, with a lot of speed and stuff, he is not the equal of Walter. It might be remarked, too, that the records of the Red Sox against the two pitchers prove it.

Why call it a world series when only the United States is involved in it? No teams were entered from Buenos Aires, Verdun, Karlsruhe, Constantinople, Cairo, Bombay, Singapore or Nagasaki.

But for five reasons our friend Hugh Jennings would have won the pennant. The reasons are Messrs. Speaker, Lewis, Hooper, Shore and Ruth.

An eastern baseball publication suggests that a real world series would be played between all-star teams picked from the American and National leagues. For the promotion of jealousy and ill-feeling and continuous bickering, no better scheme could be devised. The players who didn't get on the all-star teams would never agree that the selections made were just or sensible. And who would do the picking of the two teams?

It is conservatively estimated that 1,480,000 Philadelphians did not see the world series.

One week from next Saturday the mainline football teams will complete their schedule for the year. There will be a number of games played on Thanksgiving Day, but the principal contests will be over on November 20.

On that date Harvard and Yale will clash in their annual contest; Chicago will meet Illinois, and Minnesota and Wisconsin will fight it out at Madison.

This season has been of particular interest to Honolulu fans, as a large number of games have been upset, and the excellent dopesters have found much trouble in picking the right teams. Washington defeated California by a big score. Anyone who has watched Doble and the Washington team in the past knew that Jimmy Schaefer and his crew were up against a hard match when they trotted out on the field against the Northerners.

Princeton Should Win. By all the laws of 4999 Princeton should win a signal victory from Yale on Saturday. The Blue-grays of Shevlin, the famous end, to bolster up the weak points, and from the stories coming out of the Yale camp it appears that Hinky will not be retained as head mentor. "Speedy" Rush, the new coach at Princeton, has made good. Although the Tigers were put out of the running by the defeat at the hands of Houghton's men, it has not been a bad season at Princeton and the word comes from the East that Rush will be retained.

In the Middle West two of the best games of the year are scheduled. Stagg has come back to the team after a long illness, and has stirred the Maroons to action. Their victory over the Wisconsin team was one of the big upsets of the year, and Midway followers are banking on winning from Minnesota. Minnesota held the fast Illinois to a tie score and the football players from Northport field are confident that they will send the Marshall Field stars down the ladder.

Stars Back in Game. Pogue and Clark are expected to be back in the game with Illinois, and as Clark showed up well in the Minnesota game it appears that Coach Zuppke and his warriors from Urbana will win from Wisconsin next Saturday.

Minnesota and Illinois should win the games despite the strength of the other teams, and the conference title may not be decided this year.

Michigan and Pennsylvania have both had a bad season, but this game should be a good one, as the eleven are natural rivals. The Penn team is picked by most critics to win, and local alumni believe that Yost and his corps will be downed this year. Last season Michigan swamped the Franklin field squad by a big score, but there has been something radically wrong with the Michigan machine this season, and the poor showing may keep Maubetsch from a place on the All-American team. This has been the worst season for the Maize and Blue since Fielding Yost has been at the helm.

Pittsburgh and Cornell Best. Pittsburgh and Cornell should keep up their records, and the eastern championship must remain undecided as these two teams have no scheduled game. In past years Pittsburgh has played freshmen on the team, but since the advent of Warner, the Pitt squad has lived up to the standard of the other aggregations. It is to be regretted that Cornell, Pittsburgh and Illinois or Minnesota can not fight it out on the gridiron, as there will be many arguments again this year as to who is the champion.

The Syracuse-Colgate game should be a struggle. Last year these two squads fought it out to a tie game, and they have even been rivals. Vanderbilt and Auburn are big rivals in the South. Last year Michigan's mud lost to the Birmingham team by one touchdown, and this year the fans of the Pittsburgh of the South are expecting another close one. Washington State has an excellent chance to win from Whitman.

Doble Has Clutch. California will meet Washington again on the Seattle gridiron on Saturday, and this game should be another walkaway for Doble's men. The big score against the California team has placed the Blue and Gold in a secondary place in Western football.

While California is receiving a trimming at the hands of Washington, the old rival, Stanford, will be clashing with Santa Clara. Tommy Yarrado is at the head this year at the Mission school and it is expected that Santa Clara will give Stanford a good game when they meet on the field in the city of Rugby. The Palo Alto fifteen has lost two sterling stars, while the Santa Clara team has two remarkable players at center three-quarters and at wing. Santa Clara should hold Stanford to a close score, with a chance to win. Oregon Aggies, who defeated the best in the East, will meet Idaho in what should be a victory.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 9.—Plans for a series of matches between Miss Molly Bursted, national tennis champion, and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, former world champion, were changed today, and a round robin tournament for four women stars arranged instead by the Southern California Tennis Club. The dates selected are November 25 and 27, and the players, according to A. C. Way of the club will be Mrs. Bundy, Miss Bursted, Mrs. George Wightman (Hazel Hotchkiss) and Miss Mary Browne, both former national champions.

Brooklyn boasts of a tennis wizard in the person of Billy Ellwood, aged 4, who has taken the measure of many adults who have played against him. Billy is no taller than the net, and he plays upon, using the regulation racket. He began to play tennis three years ago, under his father's teaching, and now dear, old dad, who is a star player, has to hum some to beat his diminutive offspring.

It is to be hoped that Clarence Griffin and Ward Dawson will return to Honolulu in time for the play during the Mid-Winter Carnival. The Californians will compete in a tournament in Manila some time this winter.

It isn't so very long ago, not much over two decades, since boys and men refrained from telling in public places that they were great tennis players. The sport had a little niche along with croquet, roque and lawn bowls as a nice girly-girl game, good for flirting purposes and to show off your swell new "blazer."

Even ma and pa held up their end pretty well in the doubles in those days, when the athlete was very strong for the job and the lemonade, the last usually kept near by.

But today—well, only sound hearts and steel sinews can get away with this 1915 high tension sport.

Not that it takes any burly stunt to succeed at this game. William M. Johnston, the national champion, weighed exactly 116 pounds when he finished "trimming" Maurice McLoughlin, the California Comet, out of his title.
